

Hello from an OpenDocument Text!

This first word is part of the direct text body, while the second word is part of a sub span of text, and this third word is also part of the direct text body, but after the end of the included span.

This document also has a paragraph with foreign language words with accents such as the word “déjà” and the word “زهرة” which means “flower” in Arabic.